

Deepen Your Practice in 2017 – New Pricing Options Available for Yoga & Fitness Passes

We appreciate our customers! Our goal for 2017 is to reward frequent attendance for yoga and fitness classes with more significant discounting. As your yoga and fitness practice deepens or as you set intentions for your health for the New Year, you may want to practice more frequently.

The new yoga and fitness class pass options for 2017 will pass along significant discounts for more frequent attendance.

Here is what stays the same:

- We honor anything carrying forward into the New Year. If you already have a class pass, you are good to go in 2017!
- Our 4-session pass price remains the same as in 2016 at $10 per session standard and $8.50 per session for people in discounted careers, or aged 65+.
- The Unlimited class passes remain unchanged in pricing and terms, except the 4-month pass is replaced with a 3-month pass, to offer a lower price point to those who want to see how an unlimited pass would work for them.

Here is what is changing:

- New yoga and fitness class passes for 8, 12 and 24 sessions offer reduced pricing, as low as $8.00 per session standard, and $6.80 per session discounted.
- You may include your whole family on your class pass, so if you have multiple family members in yoga, it will be easier for you to take advantage of the reduced pricing scale.
- All yoga and fitness class passes expire 3 months after first use, so choose your pass according to how you expect to use it.

We are always happy to talk over options with you as you get ready to make your next purchase for classes.
